

Dollar Heroes
BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau, Washington, D. C.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—Be a decorated hero for $5!

This is the insinuating proposition which dealers in so-called military goods in Washington are making to the manhood of America. They will sell you a Croix de Guerre for $12, the coveted medal, military for $12, and you are willing to pay a comparatively modest price they will obtain for you almost any decoration given by this or any foreign government.

While thousands of men who spent months or years in service, many of them giving their blood, or a leg or an arm in action, are wearing these medals as a proof of courage and patriotism, thousands of others are wearing them who did nothing more heroic than plunk down a few dollars. What satisfaction these bogus heroes get out of wearing their decorations is a question which none seems able to answer. But the fact remains that a brisk business at a good profit is being done in war medals of the United States and allied governments. And these medals are not sold as you might expect, exclusively in third-rate stores and pawn shops.

High-Class Shop Sells Them.

A Washington military shop, which is located on the leading retail street, charges high prices, and caters to what is known as the better class of trade, is selling medals every day. And there is no secret about the business. To get a drink of whiskey in this town a man must know certain pass words, approach back doors, and speak in a whisper. But he can buy a "decoration for bravery" as easily and openly as he can buy a pocket knife.

The war department is fully aware that this traffic in military decorations is being carried on, but officials say they are powerless to prevent it. The secretary of war was recently apprised that American war decorations, including both medals of honor and distinguished service crosses, are being manufactured by private concerns in this country and sold to the public. He replied by saying that he already knew of this practice, and deplored it, but that there was nothing he could do to stop it, as there is no law at present under which either the manufacturer or the wearer of a medal can be punished.

There is now a bill before congress, which, if passed, will prevent the wearing of any official decoration by any person not entitled to wear it. A heavy penalty is provided for the violation in service is given, and the manufacturer of such medals. And so far it is merely a piece of paper in a pigeon hole, while the dollar heroes are multiplying like rabbits, and in the hearts of the men who won decoration in service is growing a great contempt for such undistinguished distinctions.

It Went Like This.

This is about the colloquy which passed between the sales clerk and a customer who said he wanted a "decoration."

"Would you like one with the palms or one with the silver star?"

"Let me see them."

The clerk displays a large tray filled with all sorts of decorations and medals of various European countries.

"We have sold more Croix de Guerre with the silver star than with the palms, as they look prettier. There has been a big demand for war medals."

"Yes, we have sold several hundred Croix de Guerre alone. There has been a big demand also for American distinguished service crosses. We have them in stock, but if you wish to leave your order we will get you one. In fact, we can supply you with any war decoration made."

Further questioning revealed the fact that the war decorations are sold in France, where it is possible to buy a French war cross for six francs or a little over a dollar in our currency.

Chained to Wear Medals.

The attitude of a good many men who were honestly decorated is exemplified in that of a lieutenant of the machine, who spent two years in the trenches.

COLORED WOMEN ARE CAPTURED AFTER FAST RIDE

A wild cross country ride with Norman Carl Jr., at the wheel and Chief Thomas Morrissey at his side, ended Saturday evening at Beloit, Wis., resulting in the arrest of Mamie Hatcher and Cissie Smith, both negroes. They were taken into custody, charged with stealing $76 from Maurice Reed, Janesville.

"Oh mister will you please tell us where we can find a room and get a good drink of whiskey," said one of the colored women as she called Mr. Reed on Marion street near the Chicago and Northwestern depot.

Mr. Reed told the police that as the woman addressed him she threw her arms about him and pleaded for a drink of whiskey. He convinced her he did not carry any liquor and she left accompanied by her friend.

A few minutes later he opened his pocketbook and found that his money, amounting to $75 was gone. He dashed madly into the police station and demanded that the two colored women be arrested at once.

Chief Morrissey hurried to the intersection of Marion and Chicago streets, where he had just left. Norman Carl Jr. volunteered to drive Chief Morrissey to Beloit in time to be on hand when the car arrived.

The two women were taken from the car at Beloit and lodged in the Beloit jail. They will be brought back here this afternoon and taken before Judge H. L. Maxfield in the morning.

KENYON BILL MEANS STILL HIGHER PRICES, DECLARES PACKER

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Washington, Aug. 25.—Further inflation of foodstuff prices would result from passage of the Kenyon bill to regulate and license the packing industry, L. D. H. Weld, manager of the Commercial Research department of Swift and company, testifies today before the senate agriculture committee.

"The main to the bill," Mr. Weld said, "is in the fact that it is based upon reports of the federal trade commission which are saturated with glaring inaccuracies and misstatements. This would be serious enough, but the matter does not rest there. Because the bill if passed will further inflate the already high cost of living."

"Elemental facts in the meat business," Mr. Weld said, proved that the packers' profit on meat transactions was about two cents on a dollar.

"The Kenyon bill must either interfere with the farmers' end of meat production, or with the packers' part of the business if designated to affect the high cost of living," he said. "If the farmer is hit, he will cut down production, which will bring higher stock prices. If the packer is hit and his business crippled, the result will be higher manufacturing costs, and these too, will have to be passed on."

VON BUELOW MAKES BELATED REVELATION OF OUTBREAK OF WAR

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Berlin, Sunday, Aug. 24.—Prince Bernhard von Buelow, former grand chancellor, has in a rather belated manner entered the list of those making revelations concerning the outbreak of the war, by writing to the Fremdenblatt of Hamburg, regarding the statement made by Dr. Theobald von Bethmann-Hollweg, chancellor in 1914, that the declaration of war was inevitable. Prince von Buelow sketches his long years as chancellor, tells how he was able to avoid war and admits that peace was desired by Bethmann-Hollweg, who he says, however, "blinded political eye."

"During the grave weeks before the war," writes von Buelow, "serious physiological, political and diplomatic mistakes were made by Germany's political leaders which were unjustly ascribed to the people's responsibility."

U. S. Criticized for Not Giving Aid to Germany

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Berlin, Aug. 25.—George Muech, financial writer, wrote Tagblat, criticizing the United States for failing to assist Germany financially and asserts that Americans are even guilty of machinations to repress the value of the mark artificially.

"America is exploiting Germany's needy situation most selfishly," he declared, "by delaying to grant credit which Germany needs, and depressing the value of the mark with German products as dyes, chemicals and brushes at low prices."

"Not without reason," he concludes, "do the glances of our economic leaders turn toward the east. It is ever clearer that rescue is to be found there."

U. S. QUILTS MEXICO; BANDIT HEAD KILLED

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Marfa, Tex., Aug. 25.—Major James P. Vanece, commander of the American punitive expedition told the Associated Press over the army local telephone at Ruidosa today, that he considered the report authentic that Jesus Renteria, bandit leader, had been shot and killed from an American airplane last Tuesday.

Marfa, Aug. 25.—Three hundred and seventy five American cavalry troops who last Saturday entered Mexico in pursuit of the bandits held Lieutenant Harold G. Peterson and Paul H. Davis for ransom were back on American soil today, following abandonment of the chase yesterday. The troops today intended to resume patrol of the border.

Heavy rains yesterday which obliterated the trails of the bandits brought a decision to abandon the chase after contact had been made with Canadian troops.

The cavalry troops slept under roofs last night for the first time since last Monday when the expedition was formed.

QUIET STRUGGLE UNDER WAY IN JAPAN OVER CHINA QUESTION

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Tokio, Friday, August 22.—It is reported that at its meeting yesterday the imperial cabinet, upholding the opinions advanced by the military element in the government, decided to insist upon the exclusion of Manchuria and Korea from the consortium, by which the United States, Great Britain and France and Japan will assume a dominant position in the finances of China.

A quiet but determined struggle now is under way in Japan between the military and reactionary forces of the empire and the liberals, over the general question of China. The reactionary forces insist that Japan should retain all the special preferential rights she has hitherto gained in China and oppose concessions urged by groups which seek to calm world opinion concerning Japan's alleged aggressiveness.

According to the Asahi Shimbun, Major General Tamaka, minister of war, advocated the exclusion of Manchuria and Korea from the consortium, even if that step meant that Japan should not join the loan group, consisting of the United States, Great Britain and France, besides this country.

Two detachments of troops carrying complete field equipment and six days' rations, have been ordered to prosecute the search southward from the border. The detachments, equipped with motor trucks and carrying gasoline and food for 21 days proceeded yesterday southward by way of Tijuana, lower California.

WESTERN RAILROAD TRAFFIC PARALYZED

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 25.—Traffic on the four railroads entering Los Angeles virtually was paralyzed today by the strike of trainmen who quit their posts last week in sympathy with the platform men of the Pacific Electric company.

The strike situation was further complicated early today by the switchmen and brakemen of the Southern Pacific railroad at Indio, Cal., walking out in sympathy with the members of the brotherhoods in other parts of the country. This action effectively blocked all traffic to Texas and Arizona points.

Allied Troops Not Invited to Silesia

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Paris, Aug. 25.—Germany has declined to invite allied troops to police Silesia before they have that right today the treaty which stipulates that they are to safeguard the plebs. The Silesia situation is unsatisfactory and the Germans are reported to be bringing about a recrudescence of the recent reign of terror in that province.

The question of sending allied troops to Silesia came before the supreme council Saturday, dispatches indicating that Germany was being urged on her willingness to permit foreign troops to enter the district for police purposes before the peace treaty had been ratified.

BRITAIN ACTS AS HIGHWAY MAN, CHARGE

GERMANY WILL RISE AGAIN IF NOT FORCED DOWN, SAYS COMMITTEE.

FRENCH TREATY IS CONSTITUTIONAL

Pact Is Temporary, To Be Merged In Final Peace Terms.

(BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS)

Washington, Aug. 25.—An important move in the peace negotiations today with the possibility that the foreign relations committee might report the document to the senate before the week-end, likelihood of a treaty between Britain and Egypt to that of a highwayman, Joseph W. Folk, counsel for the Egyptian peace delegation, told the senate foreign relations committee that the Versailles treaty proposed to validate the "robbery" of Egyptian independence.

Having occupied Egypt under pretext of protecting the Egyptian canal, rebels, Mr. Folk said, Great Britain in 1914 "seized the Egyptian government and now proposes under the treaty to reduce her to a subject nation." The treaty, he said, would make Egypt's grievance against Great Britain an internal question so that it could not be dealt with by the league of nations.

Want Independence.

"The people of Egypt," the witness declared, "want a league of nations which will protect their independence and not destroy it. They ask not to deny them the right of self-determination which more than a million Egyptians fought in the war just ended."

While Germany has been vanquished for the present, "nothing but force is likely to restrain her from seeking world domination at the earliest opportunity," in the opinion of the senate judiciary subcommittee, appointed to report on the validity of the proposed treaty, by which the United States would go to the aid of France in the event of an unprovoked attack by Germany.

In his opinion, ratification of the special defensive treaty is within the constitutional powers of the treaty-making bodies of the American government, the subcommittee, in its report, submitted today to the full committee, said it was for the interest of the United States that France should be allowed to recuperate and recover her old time vigor.

Report Written by Senator Walsh.

The report was written by Senator Walsh, democrat of Colorado, in collaboration with Senators Nelson and Kelllogg, republicans of Minnesota, and Senator Overman of North Carolina, democrat, constituting the subcommittee.

"It will be seen," the report said, "that the covenant only aims at protection against Germany and that it is of a temporary character to be merged in and substituted by the authority of the league of nations when that is established and put into operation."

Insists on Non-Conscription.

Withdrawal of the United States from the league of nations within two years unless all member nations abolish conscription is proposed in a bill introduced today by Senator Jones, republican of Idaho. The measure provides that the American representatives "shall not consent to any decision involving or requiring us to use military or naval force, unless authorized or directed by congress."

Another provision in the bill is that the American delegates to the league shall be elected by the people for a term of four years.

RED CROSS SELLS OFF SURPLUS STOCK

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Paris, Saturday, Aug. 23.—In a statement which it is said is issued because of many inaccurate reports concerning large sales of Red Cross merchandise, the American Red Cross explains that the only materials which have been sold are perishable stuffs, second hand equipment, surplus stocks and articles of no value for any use in direct relief work in France or eastern Europe.

The total sales of such materials in Europe, the statement says, aggregated $9,000,000 francs, while the value of the relief materials distributed in Europe during the months of July and August amounted to more than 100,000,000 francs.

The American Red Cross, the statement sets forth, now is conducting operations in 17 European countries. The relief material distributed in France, mainly in the devastated regions since the armistice, were valued at more than $25,000,000 francs, while other European countries in the same period received more than 200,000,000 francs worth of supplies.

THE WISHING PLANE
BY WILLIS WINTER

The next day Captain Brave, left Ladydear and Jane and Jack to fly back across France to Brest for the mail. Widow Aar made the children happy by telling them she would have some cloth real close—even if it isn't wool—you'll see that part of the thread and weaving cloth. The children watched her closely while she fixed the wool on the spinning wheel and started to spin the fine thread.

What does a spinning wheel look like? Well, it's made of a great big wheel, about twice as big as a bicycle wheel, and a real small wheel, mounted on a bench. A heavy cord, run from the big wheel to the little wheel, is a pedal is fixed to the big wheel so that you can make the wheel go round by pressing your foot on the pedal. When the big wheel turns fast it makes the little one just hum around. And on a stick that runs out from the center of the little wheel the spinner has an end of the wool and then, as the wheel turns around, keeps twisting the wool and pulling it away gently from the wheel. A little line of wool and winding onto the stick. So that's the way Widow Aar made thread. Then, when she had quite a big spool of thread made, she wove a little piece of cloth, as the loom worked, she wove a little piece of cloth. She laid strands of

P. O. EMPLOYEES JOIN
PARADE FOR RAISE

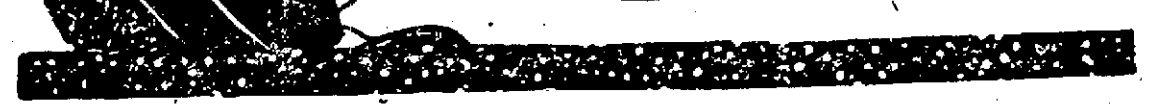

Thirteen local postal employees, including Postmaster J. J. Cunningham, went to Milwaukee yesterday and joined in the parade and mass meeting held by the postal employees of Wisconsin. The object of the demonstration was for higher pay, as the employees of the post offices all over the country have had a small raise, compared with that of railroad employees. Delegations from all the larger cities of the state were present in the parade, which went down Grand avenue to the Shubert theater, where the mass meeting was held.

The Janesville delegation left on the 10:20 train and returned at nine o'clock. It was composed of the following: Postmaster J. J. Cunningham, Joseph E. O'Hara, W. J. Lenartz, John Glasen, Robert Bear, Roy Currier, Mark Baum, Charles Smith, R. J. Dawson, George Hiller, Roy McDonald, James Quinn and John P. Joyce.

Have You Allowed
to put you in the Low Gas Class?

PERHAPS you have thought that low priced motor fuel ought to be good enough for a light car.

If you own one of these lower priced cars maybe you have unconsciously assumed that you would be getting "out of your class" if you used the same grade of motor fuel as Mr Packard or Mr. Pierce-Arrow.

That isn't rightly reasoned.

Your car NEEDS the benefits of genuine, straight-run

True Gasoline 30 Cents

proportionately more than do the top-grade cars. In the nature of things, it MUST be relatively more economical for the quantity-output car than for the hand fitted and highly perfected motors of the more expensive makes.

And correspondingly, poor, mock motor fuel, sold at only a few cents cheaper, is at its worst in cars of ordinary grade.

The less carefully fitted the motor, the greater the space between piston and cylinder walls. More oil works up to form power-stealing carbon, and more kerosene drips down to dilute your lubricating oil.

Compression is not the best. Missing is more likely and more disastrous in its ultimate results of battering the power line into disrepair.

PAY a little more—by the gallon—for True Gasoline, with its readier starting, its freedom from missing, its full volumed power, complete combustion, lack of free carbon and insurance against kerosene-diluted lubricating oil.

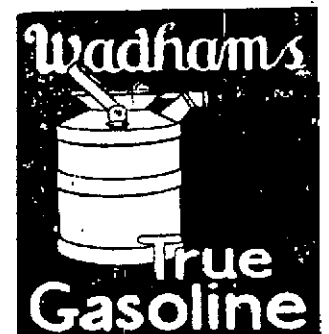

To you, its use is not a luxury, but car protection. It assures you the long life, greater power and maximum mileage that alone are consistent with the ideas of economy that led you to pick out your car in the first place.

HELP THE BOYS.

Last week a Janesville youth, only 17 years old, was sent to a prison for 10 years for robbing soldiers discharged from the army for knocking senseless served their country at the time of its greatest peril. This boy came to Janesville from a small town but a few months before he committed his first crime. He was not a product of the big city; he never had been through a school of thieves and thugs until he came here.

He became a product of the pool-rooms. He hung out with fellows who had become "tough." He became the pal of an older youth, and according to the story told to the court, was induced by his associate to rob the men who had protected him. He will have to pay the penalty for his crime, and his crime against society. Ten years of the big city will be caged behind prison bars. For that length of time he will lose his identity. He will have to live and work among other youths who have gone astray. He has thrown aside the opportunity to become an upright, useful citizen without a blemish on his name. He may learn a lesson through his punishment, but no matter how he is turned out of that prison, which only comes in of that day to prepare for the best things in life.

One must naturally believe that that boy's instincts were wrong. No one with good instincts could commit crimes of such nature. But even with these instincts predominating from was an opportunity to save him from choosing the lot of a criminal. When he came to this city, wrong environment reared him, gripped and held him. The pool rooms got him before good influences could claim him.

This should not only be a lesson to other lads of similar age, but it should teach the citizens of Janesville that they have a most important duty to perform in preventing other boys from following a like career. The men of this city should realize that the boys are encouraged in clean, wholesome pleasures and entertainment. They should be competitors with the pool rooms and saloons in winning the favor of these young people.

This can only be done through a definite plan to provide meeting places where the games of healthy youth can be played and where the environment of clean thinking and clean living is prevalent. More attention should be given to athletic fields and playgrounds. Social clubs should be organized where the entertainment will be instructive and attractive. This will require the expenditure of time, thought and money on the part of our citizens, but the results will be well worth the expenditure.

It is a well known fact, and has been stated many times before, that the greatest asset of a city is its young men; that the city which keeps its young men clean and contented is prosperous, and that the cost in dollars and cents will be returned many fold when these youths are ready to take up the responsibility of citizenship.

We in Janesville have many problems confronting us. Each one of us should appear momentous. But there is no greater right now than that of caring for our boys and girls. If we solve that problem to the satisfaction now, we are going to feel the effects of our procrastination later.

WHAT IS THE ANSWER?

Word sent out from Madison that Governor Philipp will call a special session of the legislature for September 3 or 4, to enact a soldier tuition bill of a much broader character than the Nye bill, passed at the regular session and vetoed by the executive on the ground that it was "class legislation."

It is to be hoped that this legislation will bring forth speculation as to whether this is an attempt to defeat the soldiers' bonus referendum at the special election on September 2. This suspicion, which is frequently expressed in the ranks of discharged soldiers and among champions of the bonus referendum, is said to be based upon rumors indicating that the referendum amendment when it was attached to the original bonus bill was a move to assure defeat of the measure, when it came before the people, thus preventing additional taxation which might reflect upon the governor's administration. It is well known that in his three terms Governor Philipp has pointed with pride to his record as guardian of taxes.

Boosters for the bonus bill are wondering why the announcement that the governor is so suddenly concerned with a soldier tuition bill is made just as the bonus act. They see in the move an appeal to defeat the referendum.

No matter what the intent of the governor is in this respect, the fact must not be lost sight of that a soldier tuition bill will not compensate the great majority of discharged men who served in the war. The tuition bill would benefit only a small proportion of Wisconsin soldiers who have served their country. There is no argument but that these young men who had to give up their studies to go to war should have an opportunity to finish their education at the expense of the state, or that those, who through their expenses in the war, have seen the need for more education should be given a chance to receive it. Legislation should be enacted for them. Already 15,000 questionnaires have been sent out to returned men with a view of getting a line on those who wish to take advantage of a plan the state may offer to give them an education. To date, according to word from Madison, only 5,000 have expressed a willingness to take advantage of the chance.

The tuition bill will not in any way substitute for the bonus bill. The greater majority of discharged soldiers has passed the age when they can financially afford again to take up their school work. And while it would not doubt be helpful to that greater majority if they were able to go in for higher education, most of them are facing problems which to them seem more practical. Every man who has been discharged from the army is not of school age. Many of them left responsibilities which they have had to take up as soon as they took of their uniforms, and as far as they can see from this point they will have to continue to pay strict attention to those responsibilities. They are the fellows who need the bonus. The few dollars the state would give them under the proposed bonus act, would be a godsend to many. Those few dollars would make just the difference between starting out again after fighting for Uncle Sam, in debt for civilian clothes, or making them free to take up their duties without obligations to anyone.

Much talk is heard about the stand of the farmers on the proposition. It is said that as a class they do not favor the referendum bill because taxes will be higher. That is the old politicians' cry whenever an attempt is made to gain something not suitable to them. The farmer is not a bit more niggardly than the man in the city. They are just as patriotic and will dig and hark dug just as deep into their pockets to help win the war and to give the boys comforts as anyone else. They should, and no doubt do, resent the imputation that they will in any way attempt to prevent the soldiers, sailors, marines and nurses from getting at least a portion of what is due them.

The heartache of the mother and father on the farm was just as keen, the ceaseless anxiety when their boy was in France was just as nerve-racking, and the ardent promises they made that they would stand back of the boys were just as sincere as those of any other class.

One week from tomorrow the voters of this state will decide whether or not they will give to their returned fighting men a gift which will, in a small way, compensate them for the sacrifices they made and for the hardships they endured.

The state has had to defend itself many times during the war because a few of its citizens proved disloyal. It has never failed to go over the top in every war activity and its record will compare favorably with any state in the union. When the boys in France were facing the enemy's fire of hell and the prospects looked dark, Wisconsin sent word to her soldiers that she would "Stand back of you boys." Wisconsin has never gone back on her word, and when men who represent the citizenship of this great commonwealth on September 2 go to the polls to vote on this question they will remember that pledge.

NAMING THE WAR.

What name shall we give in history to the war from whose horrors we still suffer?

Some have called it the European War, some the Great War, some the War of 1914. Someone has suggested the War of German Aggression. This is an excellent proposal, because it covers the ground so fully and puts the blame right where it belongs.

But who, in ordinary writing or conversation, is likely to take the time to use four words if he can find two that will answer?

An interesting feature of the important meeting in the White House the other day, when president and senators discussed the meanings of the peace treaty, was the use, several times, of a common term. All hands referred to the conflict as the German War.

Can we improve upon this? The Germans started it, and the chief result was the suppression of Germany. The expression is short and adequate. Why not call it the German War, and let it go at that?

Every employer should go through his institution and ascertain if any of the fellows who took advantage of not being an American citizen and kept out of the war are on the payroll. If he finds one he should kick him out and hire a red-blooded American who served his country. Many of these foreigners played the part of cowards and stuck close to a good job at fat wages.

The wets were given a ray of hope when news despatches announced that President Wilson would probably lift the wartime prohibition ban about October 1. If he does we will have to prepare for three months of debauchery, and the good that has resulted since the nation has been dry will be lost to a great extent.

A GOOD LIFE.

If I could know the self-same friends and live the self-same joys,
If I could live my boyhood o'er with all the girls and boys,
That made my merry Long Ago, I'd gladly bear the pain
And sorrow that have come to me to know the world again.

When I take my years apart and run their stories through,
I find that life's been good to me; my skies were mostly blue,
And though I have not come to fame nor much of gold is mine,
The days that God has given me have nearly all been fine.

I've laughed my way along through life despite its bit of care,
Good friends have stood beside me through the darkness and despair,
I find as o'er my yesterdays I let my memory range
Were I to live my life again there's little I would change.

I want the same old boyhood friends, the same good teachers, too,
I'd want the same sweet mother and the father that I knew;
And on my second journey through the smiles and tears of life
I'd want the self-same sweetheart to come back and be my wife.

When I am moved by trials here to grumble and complain,
I wonder if I'd ever care to live my life again,
I wonder if I'd ever care to live my life again,
I wonder if I'd ever care to live my life again.

"DOING YOUR WORK" IS TEXT OF SERMON BY REV. MELROSE

At the union service held in the Baptist church yesterday morning, Rev. J. A. Melrose, pastor of the Federated church, preached the sermon, "Do Your Work." The thought emphasized was that the tasks of life could only be done well, if they were carried on by mingling the inspiration of the spiritual with the strictly practical things of everyday experiences.

He thought there were two distinct promises. The first being sort of a promise for power was promised for the many tasks set before them, and the other being, "that ye shall be my witnesses."

A free translation of the latter sentence, he said, gives it further force, being, "ye are my exhibits." He felt that there was a temptation in this busy age, in rushing into work, with dull tools and not enough time given in preparation for the task in hand, and the church was suffering by this idea of speeding up in practical matters. There was a tendency to cut down on everything which did not show efficiency or ability to show results.

New Methods Needed. "These days are not those of a strong spiritual grip on God. We need new methods, and new interpretation of life. For this reason many things are going to the bad. But what we need most, is to see that after all, it is God's world, and he never leaves his people without a witness."

He thought that the fate of the earth was being changed during the past decade, and the need is to change thinking a bit to get the new angle of ideas.

"Whether we like it or not man is making a new response to the idea of service, where formerly it used to be that of worship," he said. "This makes a strong appeal, especially to the younger people. This fact was forcibly brought out by the war, when splendid service was given in quarters unlooked for, under the pressure of war time conditions."

But he felt that this fine quality of service was not all, it must be baptized with the inspiration of the Holy Spirit, and then inspiration must grow together, he said, "one reaching on the other."

He showed that in other lines of endeavor besides those of the church there was definite preparation for a receptive attitude in the schools, there was the spiritual influence of play, invoked to assist the pupil in his studies, and in business there was the magic touch of cooperation, which harmonized the discordant elements connected with it.

Outlines Needs. He outlined several things needed in the church today. First, the spirit of God should show itself in every human life, although manifested in different ways; second, the need of having a feeling of home and fellowship in the church; and third, a confidence in the world to come.

Mrs. Alice Thomas and Miss Olive Pope sang a duet. "Sometimes Somebody Loves Me" and in the singing of the hymns.

At the union meeting in the Court House park in the evening Rev. Melrose also preached the sermon, taking up his text the words of the "Have Faith in God." He showed that Jesus placed the emphasis on the accepted fact of the existence of God, and lived his life in full accordance with that faith.

Rev. F. F. Lewis conducted the meeting and led in the devotions. Rev. J. Hart Truesdale read from the scriptures and the men chorused "Have Faith in God." He showed that Jesus placed the emphasis on the accepted fact of the existence of God, and lived his life in full accordance with that faith.

30 Children Are Busy Writing Examinations

Thirty children, pupils of the rural schools wrote on the popular examination at the court house today.

With the 30 who wrote last week, most of those who plan on obtaining a diploma this year have taken all of the examinations.

Higher exams were scheduled for today also, but no teachers wrote today. Supt. O. D. Artissel stated that he only expected a few teachers to write as most of them had obtained their certificates earlier in the summer.

The rural schools in this vicinity for the most part, open Monday, Sept. 8, according to word which Superintendent Artissel has received from school board members around Janesville. This is to allow for Labor day and the fair.

Many of the schools will not open until a later date as help is scarce and the children are needed to help on the farms.

FARMERS, THRESHERS, TO JOIN IN PICNIC

For the first time since the organization of the Threshermen's association, three years ago, the threshers and farmers will have a picnic. Labor Day at Lakeview Bluff, Lake Koshkonong, it was announced today.

The object of the picnic is to bring about closer understanding between the farmers and the threshers. John Waldman, the secretary of the Threshermen's association, announced today.

"It is our plan to have a regular get-together picnic," said Mr. Waldman. "We plan to have this an annual affair. We want and expect all of the farmers in Rock county to come out to the picnic."

The program is not yet complete, but a regatta is planned to be held on the Milton Crescents and a local team. Races and games will be in order for the children.

Each family will bring its own dinner. Plans are being made to make the picnic an all day affair.

Officers of the Threshermen's association are George Bacon, president, Bert Gower, vice-president, John Waldman, secretary, and Robert Snyder, treasurer.

"Y" TENNIS TOURNAMENT MEMBERSHIP FILLED

The entries to the Y. M. C. A. membership tournament have been completed and the games will be played as soon as possible. W. Porter Craig, physical director of the "Y," stated that he wishes the tournament to be played as the boys tournament and the city tournament are to be played soon.

Medals will be awarded to winners of first and second places. The object of the membership tournament is to get the players better acquainted so that the courts will be used more frequently.

A list of players is as follows: Glauska vs. O'Neil, Carpenter vs. Byr, Noyes vs. Moerick, Thayer vs. Rev. Thorson, Paegan vs. Rev. Flar, Shoemaker vs. North, Pappas vs. Wrenn, Miller vs. Byr, Matheson vs. Wolf, and Hubel vs. Byr.

The boys' tournament will follow the men's.

LAWRENCE WILL FACE TRIAL SOON

Raymond Lawrence, alleged leader of the brick bat bandit duo, who was implicated in five robberies by the confession of Edward Murray, the other member, who has been sentenced to serve 10 years in the State Penitentiary, will undoubtedly be arraigned before Judge H. L. Maxfield in the municipal court this week.

Murray is being held at the county jail and will be called to witness, it is said, when Lawrence appears in court. Lawrence, said by Murray to be the leader of the brick throwing pair, refuses to have anything to say regarding the hold-up.

Attorney Robert Cunningham, counsel for Lawrence, said today that arrangements were being made to have the young man appear before Judge Maxfield this week.

What? Another pair of shoes? Better go to Luby's.

MEASURES TAKEN TO STOP HOG CHOLERA BY STATE BOARD

Madison, Aug. 25.—Can hog cholera be cured? The state department of agriculture answers this in the negative, but adds that it can be made immune from cholera by vaccination and progressive breeders all over the country are adopting this method. The state board of control has asked the department of agriculture to vaccinate all the hogs at the various state institutions. Up to date 700 hogs at the Northern Hospital for the Insane and several hogs at the Industrial School for Boys have been immune.

The necessity for adopting these preventive measures and saving money is emphasized by the fact that there were fresh hog cholera outbreaks during the past week in Sheboygan, St. Croix, Dodge, Milwaukee, and Dane counties.

Voice of the People

To the Editor: I intend to vote for the soldiers overseas bill. Why? Because I think it is right that I should. I never was more confirmed in my judgment in my life in any matter, that presented itself for my decision.

Ten soldiers were killed in action for each month while engaged in overseas service is very small compared with the service they rendered and the sacrifice they made. Instead of getting $20 per month overseas, if they had remained at home they would have received from three to six times as much, to say nothing about the exposure to shot and shell and U-boats.

Tens of thousands of American soldiers met their deaths in that terrible European war. You cannot compensate these men. They have gone beyond the reach of your vote, but those who have returned from America green and their loved ones overseas, if they show your gratitude by voting for the Soldiers' Bonus bill. Would you have left your homes and friends and business and gone overseas and taken these soldiers' places in the battle fields? Think about this matter before you go and vote Sept. 2.

Another matter is to be thought of. We may need these American soldiers at most any time for all we know. We had a war with Mexico once, and we may have it again.

The nations of the globe are jealous of our prosperity and rising power. Our army is exposed to invading armies for thousands of miles. Will you go and face these enemies for the paltry sum of $30 per month when supplemented by the $10 bonus?

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 15 years old and have one brother who is working and one younger brother who is in school.

My mother is dead and papa wants me to keep on with school until I graduate. But I don't like to go to school, but it is not a bit like it used to be. We do not have it nearly so nice in our house as my friends have and I never like to invite them over. It was always neat when mama was here, but now papa and my brother do things any old way and I have to let them and not fuss because I can't do everything alone.

My older brother has just been scolding me terribly and says I don't deserve such a good father. He called me a snob and says I ought to quit the girls I go with. I wonder what I shall do, but first I will have to tell you. Papa can't wear good clothes when he works and he looks awful. One day he met me with some of my friends and called me to me, for he is full of pride. He looked me terribly in the eye and when the girls asked me who that fellow was I said, "Someone I know well," and started about something else. I was not pleasant to him and I think it hurt him, but he never said a word about it.

A while afterward when I was with the same girls he was coming up the street and before he got up to us he turned around and gave me a look. He did it on purpose. He is going to be a doctor, but he looks a fright except on Sundays.

I felt so badly I told my brother and he just scolded me. I don't want to be a snob, but all the girls I go with have prettier homes and clothes and their people dress better, too. Please tell me what I should do.

FAIDIE.

Your letter is very pathetic. It is easy for me to see the great soul your father has, and also that he has neglected to teach you true values in life. You think less of Jesus because he wore poor clothing? The quality of his soul makes you admire him the more for his simplicity.

Be proud of your father and tell your friends how splendid he is. Explain that in spite of his hard work he tried to be both father and mother to you. If your friends are snobs they will regard him with the respect you hold for him and will love him in spite of his shabby workday clothes.

Your present attitude is entirely wrong. If your friends amounted to anything they would like you less because of your attitude.

Your present attitude is entirely wrong. If your friends amounted to anything they would like you less because of your attitude.

Be proud of your father and tell your friends how splendid he is. Explain that in spite of his hard work he tried to be both father and mother to you. If your friends are snobs they will regard him with the respect you hold for him and will love him in spite of his shabby workday clothes.

cause of it. When a girl is ashamed of her own father it shows that she is a snob and lacks heart and soul.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: You have made the remark that a girl should never allow a young gentleman to kiss her; then why is it that all the fellows try it, or if given the least encouragement will do it? It seems so disgusting to me.

I have gone with a young gentleman over a year, and under ordinary conditions have gone out twice a week with him, but he has never spoken of marriage or even that he cares for me. Do you think he has the right to take so much of my time as long as we are not engaged? I have tried to gradually cut down our spending so much time together, but it seems the fellows make fun of me because I don't allow it. Why is this? Probably you think I am not as good looking as my friends, but in reality I am as good looking as they.

PERPLEXED.

You are mistaken about my saying that a girl should never allow a young gentleman to kiss her. She should not until she is engaged, but then it is the most natural thing in the world. Affection should not be forbidden, nor yet abused. When indulgence is given to promiscuous love-making affection is abused.

human nature to want to be loved and that is why boys try to kiss girls and girls are inclined to permit it. Everyone should have too much self-respect to make love as a pastime.

The young man has no right to kiss you without asking you to marry him. If he goes to see you as a friend only and is willing you should go with other young men, too, twice a week is not too often for him to come. Under the circumstances, however, it would be advisable for you to limit his calls to once a week. He is not treating you fairly.

Many young men and women cheapen themselves by too much kissing. Since you have more character and good taste than the others seem to have, make use of your discretion. Disregard their ridicule and of what you consider right.

and they get clean!"

There was indignity on the other side of the coin, too. Annie could see she was searching her mind for some story of equal impressiveness.

"There's a girl in our house," she said, with an expression that said, "You won't believe this, but it's true."

"That gets a white roll with butter on it every single day when she comes home from school. She doesn't eat it or use it for anything but to wipe her face. She goes under the stairs in the hallway. I seen her!"

Annie mused it all over in her mind, trying to understand why there was such poverty, wondering if she, too, would ever get out of it, or whether they would go on, getting poorer and more helpless and hopeless each year, until they viewed life sadly, or sullenly like most of those around her.

If Annie had been asked just when things first began to be utterly depressing at home she would have been at a loss to say. The sliding down was very gradual. There had been an evening when she noticed things seemed different—not tidy. Annie's cheeks were pale and her eyes were red, and she looked like a ghost.

She looked like a ghost, and her eyes were red, and she looked like a ghost. She looked like a ghost, and her eyes were red, and she looked like a ghost.

along. It is an exceedingly difficult problem for a doctor to solve without some acquaintance with the family concerned. The mother should teach the daughter; the father should teach the son. If either parent feels incompetent, then the daughter should be taught by the best woman physician available, or if no woman physician is available, then by a trained nurse in whom the parents have confidence; and the boy should be taught by the family doctor.

A little girl used to hail me at every meeting, if I happened to be carrying my veil, my brief case. "Have you got our baby?" she would inquire eagerly, and I would have to confess that the baby was still at the office. One day she came to the office and wanted to look over my stock. I had to confess that the moment I had nothing but black and yellow stock on hand, but that I was expecting a shipment of white babies most any day.

Parents should bear in mind that modern life offers plenty of inducements to the young boy or girl with a natural curiosity unsatisfied at home. They should also remember that boys, at least, begin to acquire sex knowledge—usually from improper sources—at the age of nine years. Therefore proper instruction cannot be safely postponed beyond that age.

Prostitution is a great sin of parents in this matter. It is so easy to assume that our own children are more innocent than other children. Innocence is indeed sweet. It is in no wise destroyed by knowledge. There can be no better evidence of this than the high standard of womanly purity shown by educated nurses. And on the other side stands the fact that in the great majority of the cases the girl is ignorant of the greatest truths. By actual test 95 per cent of all immoral women are found to be minors—they have minds no more developed than the mind of a 10-year-old child.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Facial Reconstruction

Is it possible for a surgeon to straighten a crooked nose? I have outstanding ears to lie flat against the head or to take deep wrinkles out of the face near the eyes or to correct a very thick lip. (G. D. P.)

ANSWER—Yes.

Effect of Removing Tonsils

From my own observation, not a single case of influence occurred to me. Individual in our community who had had the tonsils taken out. Please state your views on this. Is one who has had the tonsils removed more likely to contract tuberculosis? (J. E. B.)

ANSWER—We do not know that the removal of the tonsils affects susceptibility one way or another to any infectious disease. The removal of tonsils or infected tonsils often improves health greatly, and that would seem to better the individual's general resistance to disease.

A Ringing Ear

I enclose a clipping from your column, and would thank you to tell me how to compound two solutions. (G. J.)

The clipping is a reader's communication. Last summer I wrote you about my ringing ear, and you suggested irrigations with saturated solution of boric acid and drops of saturated alcoholic solution of boric acid. There is no more ringing and discomfort. I thank you, Dr. Brady.

ANSWER—Boil the water, then dissolve in it all the boric acid powder or crystals the water will take up, and a little more so that some will be on the bottom on standing; use the clear upper part, which is saturated solution of boric acid. (S. S. C.) Do not expect merely warm the alcohol by standing the vial in warm water, and that is saturated alcoholic solution of boric acid. Syringe the ear once a day with a comfortably warm solution. Drop in a few drops of the solution at bedtime and morning for several weeks or months.

Tobacco and Youth

Will a cigarette or two a day stop growth? (C. M.)

ANSWER—Yes, if used by a very young person. The harmful effect of tobacco on health varies inversely with age, the most poisonous influence being noticed in young lads.

"I have been planning to give my daughter information which she constantly seeks, and I don't know how to go about it. My daughter is 10, and asks very often, 'Where do the doctors get the babies?' I do so want to know the right way of imparting knowledge to her. Will you please send me your booklet on this subject?"

I have no booklet. In fact, I do not know just how the mother should proceed with her daughter's education. It depends on the kind of understanding that has existed between them all.

The Magnificent Ambersons

By BOOTH TARRINGTON

"I wish you would," said Fanny. "I probably know exactly how much profit there would be in this."

Eugene's advice was to "go slow"; he thought electric lights for automobiles were "coming—some day," but probably not until certain difficulties could be overcome. Altogether he was discouraging, but by this time his two friends "had the fever" as thoroughly as old Frank Broun himself had it; for they had been with Broun to see the light working beautifully in a machine shop. "Perfect!" Fanny cried. "And if it worked in the shop it's bound to work any place else, isn't it?"

Eugene would not agree it was "bound to"—yet, being pressed, was driven to admit that "it might," and retreating from what was developing into an oratorical contest, repeated a warning about not "putting too much into it."

George Amberson also laid stress on caution later, though the Major had "fianced him" again, and he was "going in." "You must be careful to leave yourself a margin of safety," Fanny said. "You must be careful to leave yourself enough to fall back on, in case anything should go wrong."

Fanny deceived him. In the impossible event of "anything going wrong" she would have enough left to "live on," she declared, and laughed excitedly, for she was having the best time that had come to her since William's death. Like so many women for whom money has always been provided without their understanding how, she was prepared to be a thorough and irresponsible plunger.

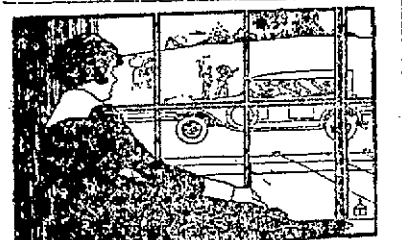

Amberson, in his weariness, shared her excitement, and in the winter, when the exploiting company had been formed, and he brought Fanny her importantly engraved shares of stock, he hovered to his prediction of possibilities made when they first spoke of the new light.

"We seem to be partners, all right," he laughed. "Now let's go ahead and the millions before Isabel and young George come home."

"When they come home!" she echoed sorrowfully—and it was a phrase which found an evasive echo in Isabel's letters. In these letters Isabel was always planning pleasant things that she and Fanny and the Major and George and "brother George" would do—when she and her son came home. "They'll find things pretty changed, I'm afraid," Fanny said. "If they ever do come home!"

Amberson went over the next summer and joined his sister and nephew in Paris, where they were living. "Isabel does want to come home," he told Fanny gravely on the day of his return in October. "She's wanted to for a long while—and she ought to come while she can stand the journey." And he amplified this statement, leaving Fanny looking startled and solemn when Lucy came by to drive him out to dinner at the new house Eugene had just completed.

He was loud in praise of the house after Eugene arrived, and gave them no account of his journey until they had retired from the dinner table to Eugene's library, a gray and shadowy room, where their coffee was brought. Then, equipped with a cigar, which seemed to occupy his attention, Amberson spoke in a casual tone of his sister and her son.

"I found Isabel as well as usual," he said, "only I'm afraid 'as usual' isn't particularly well. Sydney and Amelia had been up to Paris in the spring, but she hadn't seen them. Somebody told her they were there. It seems. They'd left Florence and were living in Rome; Amelia's become a Catholic and is said to give great sums to charity and to go about with the gentry in consequence, but Sydney's ailing and lives in a wheel chair most of the time. It struck me Isabel ought to be doing the same thing."

He paused, bestowing minute care upon the removal of the little band from his cigar; and as he seemed to have concluded his narrative Eugene spoke out of the shadow beyond a heavily shaded lamp: "What do you mean by that?" he asked quietly.

"Oh, she's cheerful enough," said Amberson, still not looking at either his young hostess or her father. "At least," he said, "she manages to seem so. I'm afraid she hasn't been really well for several years. Of course she makes nothing of it, but it seemed rather serious to me when I noticed she had to stop and rest twice to get up one short flight of stairs in their two-floor apartment. I told her I thought she ought to make George let her come home."

"Let her?" Eugene repeated in a low voice. "Does she want to?"

"She doesn't urge it. George seems to like the life there—in his grand, gloomy and peculiar way; and of course she'll never change about being proud of him and all that—he's quite a swell. But in spite of anything she said, rather than because, I know she does indeed want to come. She'd like to be with father, of course; and I think she's well, she intimated one day that she feared it might even happen that she wouldn't get to see him again. At the time I thought she referred to his age and feebleness, but on the boat coming home I remembered the little look of wistfulness, yet of resignation, with which she said it, and it struck me all at once that I'd been mistaken: I saw she was really thinking of her own state of health."

"I see," Eugene said, his voice even lower than it had been before. "And you say he won't let her come home?" Amberson laughed, but still continued to be interested in his cigar. "Oh, I don't think he uses force! He's very gentle with her. I doubt if the subject is mentioned between them, and yet—and yet, knowing my interesting nephew as you do, wouldn't you think that was about the way to put it?"

"Knowing him as I do—yes," said Eugene slowly. "Yes, I should think that was about the way to put it." A murmur out of the shadows beyond him—a faint sound, musical and feminine, yet expressive of a notable intensity—seemed to indicate that Lucy was of the same opinion.

Dinner Stories

One morning a woman walked into a village grocery store with a majestic stride. It was easy to see by the sternness of her expression that she was somewhat disturbed.

"This," she sarcastically explained, throwing the package on the counter, "is the washing itself, and this is the soap. It's the soap that makes washing a pleasure. It's the soap—"

"That isn't soap, madam," interrupted the groceryman, examining the package. "Your little girl was in here yesterday for a half pound of cheese and a half pound of soap. This is the cheese."

"U-m, that accounts for it," said the woman, as the light of understanding began to glow. "I wondered all night what made the Welsh rarebit we had for supper taste so queer."

"I want to have a tooth drawn," the small boy with the steel grey eye, "and I want gas."

"You're too young to have gas, my little man," said the dentist. "Besides I'm sure you aren't afraid of being hurt. Sit still and be a nut."

"I isn't that at all," said the boy, "but I'm afraid I shall not be able to help giving a bit of a squeal when it comes out."

"Well, that won't matter at all," said the dentist. "I'm sure I shall not mind."

"No, but I shall. Look out of that window."

The dentist looked and saw a lot of grinning lads standing under the window.

"They're all the kids I've fought and licked," said the customer, "and they've come to hear me holler."

The Lure of the Open Road

A MAN who owns a motor car—be it a big, luxurious limousine or only a little flivver, has at command the means of satisfying one of his most primitive instincts, a desire to fare forth like a true adventurer and enjoy the freedom of the open country.

Accompanied by his family or his friends, he, like the Argonauts, can start a little journey into unfamiliar places.

He need have no fear of consequences, for the modern automobile is a sturdy, dependable friend. All it asks is gasoline, a little lubricating oil, and water. With this it goes up hill and down, without fret or worry.

The wayside brook, or the well on a friendly farm supplies the water, while gasoline and oil may be had anywhere from the Service Stations of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

The splendid system of distribution organized and maintained by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) covers every city, town, and hamlet, and in many cases there is a tank and pump beside the little store at the fork of the roads.

This complete distribution of its products is one of the chief services rendered by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to the motorists of America, yet it represents but one of the many benefits derived by the public at large from the operation of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) as a public servant.

SUNDAY'S RESULTS

Kosciusko 12, Janesville 2.
Sheboygan 3, McCoy All Stars 0.
Manitowoc 2, Waupun 0. (12 innings.)

The Janes blew up completely at Milwaukee yesterday and, playing like a flock of sixth-grade kids, were hurled under a 12-2 count. Jake Litza's reconstructed Kosciuskos had charge of the ceremony and 1,300 noisy south siders seemed to take great delight in the fearful scene of carnage. By losing yesterday the Janes remain in first place but they are not alone. The Koskys are sharing the same berth and give promise of pushing the Janes into fifth unless they show some life and defeat Waupun at that city next week.

The Manitowocs still lead the Lake Shore league but they were given a awful scare yesterday when it took them 12 innings to down Waupun 2 to 0. Sheboygan kept its bull-dog grip on second place by defeating the McCoy All-Stars 3 to 0.

Nine errors for Janes.
The Janes were not only helpless before Harvey Stock's excellent pitching—they collected only five hits—but they played like a lot of dummies in the field, nine horrible errors being chalked up against them. The Poles not satisfied with the Janes loose fielding, proceeded to mangle in the ninth, forcing him to be mangled in the sixth in favor of Sunny Viney. Fourteen healthy blows were collected off the two pitchers. Three of these were two baggers, and one was a triple.

It is believed that the Janes lost heart and everything else in the third inning when Brausen pulled the time-worn hidden ball trick on Brooks who had tripped. According to fans Brausen touched the Pole three feet off the sack but Empire Schaefer, the same bird who performed here last Sunday had his eyes on a beautiful woman in the grandstand and did not see the play. Therefore, Hon Brooks was called safe. After that occurrence the Koskys had everything their own way and the slaughter proceeded.

Stock Pans Sixteen.
Sixteen Janes were beached on strikes while Lengquist struck out five and Viney two. According to those who saw the whipping, the Koskys are the worst team the Janes have met this year. Had the home guys played like they have in the last two games they would have copped. There promise to be a grandshake-up in the team for the game at the Prison City next play.

Viney made one of the best plays of the game after he had been mangled by Viney in the sixth. He lined Stock's long fly to right field and made a perfect peg home in time for Cronke to catch Brooks, who was racing in from third.

Rally in Fourth.
The Janes got their two lone tallies in a fourth inning rally when Viney reached first with one down, stole second and went third on an overthrow at second. Kakuske seeing his play mate on the paths drew a pass and stole second. With two men on and one down Pierce took three swings and sat down. Nelson, new second sacker, lit on a fast one for a hard drive through short and both Viney and Herb scored.

SHEBOYGAN 3, MCCOY ALL STARS 0.
SHEBOYGAN—Playing errorless ball behind Buster Braun, who was in the best of form, the Sheboygan Champs succeeded in downing the McCoy All Stars on Sunday by the score of 3 to 0. Braun's splitter was working like a charm and only three of the McCoy batters were successful in puncturing him for a hit. Three lightning double plays, however, by the Chair Inner works broke up certain rallies for the All Stars and helped Braun in scoring a shutout.

Hank Schultz twirled fine ball for the visitors, but was not given the best support. Six hits was all the fabled boys could muster off his delivery. Joe Dunbar, who once more started with the stick, cracked out a long home run and a single. Score:

Will You Help Make Janesville's Ice Supply Last Through The Present Season

Only a Few Weeks' Supply Remains--Unless it is Conserved, Janesville Will Suffer an Ice Shortage

If the ice supply runs short YOU will suffer with the rest of the public for lack of ice. Therefore it is decidedly to your interest to economize as much as possible during the balance of the season in the use of ice.

This city has been much more fortunate than most cities around us, has had plenty of ice throughout the season thus far due to the splendid cooperation of the citizens in using it sparingly in accordance with our published advices regarding the situation.

But with the excellent economy which has been practiced it is now a serious fact that the ice supply is running short and ECONOMY MUST BE PRACTICED if we are to have ice in Janesville the balance of the season.

So we ask you to cut down your ice consumption in every way possible and to report to us any wasteful use of ice that may come to your attention.

Many people in apartments are using one refrigerator for two families and find that it works out satisfactorily. Others get ice only half as often as before, three days a week instead of every day.

Performing this duty of saving ice is a benefit not only to the whole community but to yourself and family because unless it is done there will be no ice for anyone.

We know that the public will respond to this request as they have to every other request which has ever been made to them regarding civic welfare.
